

A message from Jesus

“Beloved child of the Father, I am with you. I look with love and I see your beautiful radiant soul blooming like a pure white rose; I see your broken yet still beating, still loving heart; I see your resilient, marvelous body; I see the pain, shame, and fear you carry like a crushing cross; and I love you.

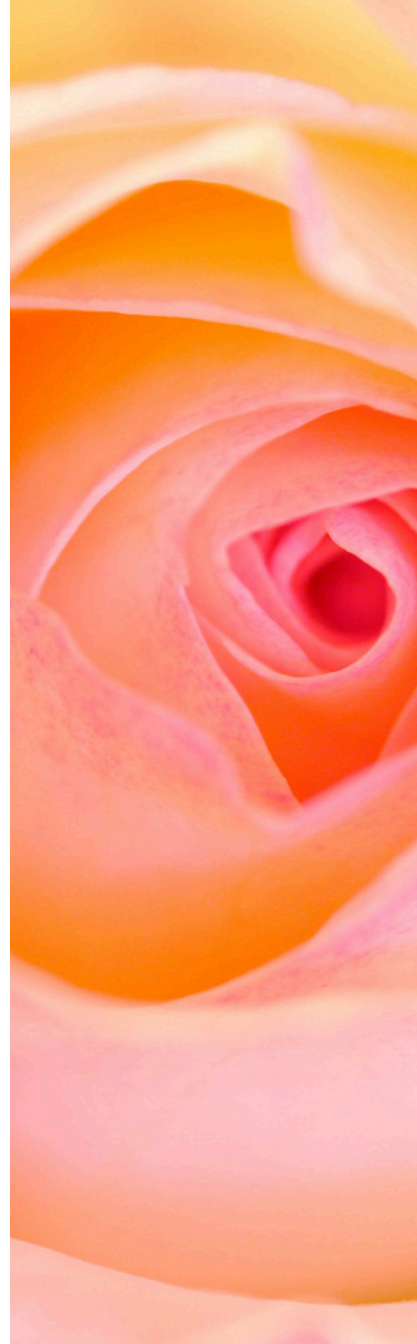

You are precious to Me. You are My Beloved.

I await your coming to Me. I desire to heal you, to lift the cross from your shoulders and to dance with you. I have seen you always. I know the sin and shame that hold you captive do not belong to you.

And I want you to hear Me say, ‘Enough. No more.’

My Beloved, you have suffered long enough under this weight that is not your burden to carry. If you will only invite Me into your wounds, into your aching heart, into your fear, and into your memories, I will love you into wholeness and clothe you with the garment of dignity and grace.

I await your coming to Me, for I will not violate or force. I am Love... I am only Love.... Love is who I am ... and My loving is gentle, patient, and trustworthy. You are safe here in My Heart.”

My response to Jesus

Dear Jesus, Yes. I invite You into all my brokenness, my wounds, my memories.

Touch me with Your gentle healing and help me grow in trust so I might truly believe that I am safe with You. I desire to hear Your voice of Truth and Love, to hear You call me Your Beloved. Thank You, Jesus, for seeking and finding me so that I may be healed and know wholeness and love again. In Your Most Precious Name, I pray.

Amen.
